Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Why Let Yourself Get Constipated?
Why endure those dull headachy days due to constipation, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can avoid both by getting at the cause of the trouble?
If your constipation, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, the "better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy-tasted breakfast cereal is the ounce of prevention that's worth a pound of emergency relief. It helps you not only to get regular but to keep regular, day after day and month after month, by the pleasantest means you ever knew.
Eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Talmadge of Georgia Wins Governorship For Third Time

Erstwhile Enemy of Roosevelt Nominated By Wide Margin
By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Sept. 12.—Eugene Talmadge, one-time outspoken foe of the Roosevelt administration, won a third term as Governor of Georgia in a Democratic primary in which he promised voters he would "support the Democratic ticket" in the national election.
Virtually complete unofficial returns from yesterday's voting showed the lawyer-farmer won another gubernatorial term over two opponents after a four-year retirement. His was acclaimed as the first such third-term victory in Georgia since before the Civil War.
Nomination in the Democratic primary in Georgia is tantamount to election.

Mr. Talmadge was given a popular vote of 141,153 for a county unit vote of 348. Columbus Roberts, wealthy Columbus dairy farmer and businessman, received a popular vote of 87,205 and a county unit vote of 52. Abit Nix, Athens attorney making his third race for the governorship, trailed with a popular vote of 33,166, which gave him only 12 unit votes.
Won 136 of 159 Counties.
Under the unit vote system, each county's unit votes go to the candidate polling a popular vote plurality in that county. Mr. Talmadge carried 136 of the 159 counties. Mr. Roberts 19 and Mr. Nix 4 on the basis of returns from 1,465 of the 1,720 precincts. The total vote from these precincts was 262,990, less than half of the 540,401 registered voters.
During his second term as Governor in 1935-37, Mr. Talmadge made repeated attacks on the Roosevelt administration and fought re-nomination of Mr. Roosevelt. He carried an anti-New Deal banner in the race for the Senate in 1936 and was defeated by Senator Russell, administration supporter.
Mr. Talmadge refrained from attacking the national administration when he ran for the Senate in 1938. He came out second to Senator George, who was re-elected despite efforts of the administration to unseat him.

Whelchel Ahead.
Representative Whelchel, acquitted last spring of charges that he sold postal appointments, appeared assured of renomination over three opponents in the ninth district. Representative Peterson was leading a single rival in the first district. John S. Gibson of Douglas held a substantial lead in a five-man race for the congressional seat left vacant by death of Representative Gibbs in the eighth district.
There were no contests in the seven other congressional districts. The incumbents are Edward Eugene Cox, Stephen Pace, Albert Sidney Camp, Robert Ramspeck, Carl Vinson, chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee; Malcolm Tarver and Paul Brown.

Large Firms to Assure Drafted Employees of Jobs

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The average American company plans to assure conscripted employees of immediate reinstatement after their release from the Army, the Research Bureau of the American Management Association said yesterday.
A survey of employers disclosed, the bureau said, that the average draftee would be reinstated with his seniority and company pension rights maintained, and probably would receive the same rate of pay.
The bureau declared that some concerns said they would make these qualifications: That the employee must be honorably discharged from military service and be mentally and physically fit; that no national or business catastrophe had occurred, and that the application be made within a certain period after discharge from the Army.
The report said that if unions were "willing to allow temporary substitute workers to have work cards without becoming union members, it will be possible to restore the employees who are called to service to full seniority and to their original jobs when they return."
The survey covered a large group of manufacturing concerns, insurance companies and financial institutions and reflected policies affecting more than 300,000 employees.
Greatest wind velocity ever recorded atop Whiteface Mountain, New York, was 144 miles per hour.

Anti-Aircraft Comes Into Own With New Barrage Tactics

British Abandon Method Of Picking Off Lone Planes High in Air
By the Associated Press.
"Archie"—that often misunderstood and criticized foe of raiding bombers—appeared today to be coming into his own.
A new tactic, by which "Archie"—anti-aircraft guns—hurl up a continuous screen of shells around London, was credited with harassing German bombers to such an extent in today's nine-hour raid that only 20 bomb explosions were heard in the center of the city.
This was in contrast to hundreds upon hundreds of bomb blasts in the British capital in previous nights of raiding.
No longer are the high-angle guns used exclusively to pick off individual ships high in the air. Instead of waiting for sweeping searchlights to spot single planes, scores of guns maintain a heavy screen on a designated target area where raiders are heard and seen with the limited help of the lights.

Like World War Barrages.
This method is similar to barrages of the World War, which sought to shift with the plane, whereas fire at individual planes is similar to counter-battery fire.
The main objectives of anti-aircraft fire always have been to keep bombers high—so as to destroy their aim—and to break up their formations—so as to destroy unified effort.
In these, the new tactic seems to have been successful; today's British communiqué mentioned the anti-aircraft fire and its effectiveness in commendatory words and gave it credit for the reported lightness of the raid.
German sources also spoke of throwing up a similar tent of steel over Berlin and contended this prevented many English bombers from reaching the center of the city in today's 92-minute raid.
In London, the new anti-aircraft technique had another effect. Dispatches from the English capital mentioned that Londoners waiting out the raid in shelters were heartened by the fact the din outside was caused for the most part by their own whanging guns, instead of by Nazi bombs.

Since one of the professed German reasons for the raids on London is to bring about a state of panic and disrupt the normal life of the city, such a heartening effect might be important.
Popular misapprehensions about anti-aircraft weapons began in World War days. With those early weapons—with which the gunner could do little but "lead" the plane as if he were shooting at a duck and then blast away—the average of hits was low, about 5,000 rounds for each plane brought down.
This led to the belief on the part of the layman that anti-aircraft was of little use. With the development of new spotting and listening apparatus, combined with lightning calculating devices, the effectiveness of the new weapon was increased greatly.

For instance, in one day, picked at random, the British claimed 11 German planes were shot down by anti-aircraft fire. This was on August 15. They claimed a bag of about 100 by this means in the month of August.

In the first year of the war British spokesmen contended 196 Nazi planes were knocked down by A. A. fire. This compared with 1,711 planes reported to have been shot down by fighter planes.
